

ROUND TWO: ARIZONA@WORK ASSISTS A SECOND TIME

by Shanen L. Aranmór, COVID-19 Historian

Formerly self-employed landscaper, Daniel Rodriguez Lopez found himself suddenly unemployed and desperate during the 2008 recession. He reached out to ARIZONA@WORK-Yuma County to find resources to help get his life back on track. "Things got pretty bad. I loved my landscaping business but I needed money to support my family," said Daniel. Through the One-Stop office, he found a job installing solar panels and was able to get back on his feet. After working out-of-state last year, Daniel returned to Yuma to be closer to his family. He found odd-jobs working as a day laborer, but searched for the stability of a steady income, as well as planning for the future. "I don't want cash jobs. I need social security. I am getting older."

Unfortunately, due to the the COVID-19 pandemic and resulting economic downturn, Daniel was unable to support himself. "I had nothing," he explained. "I remembered Patrick [Goetz] and how much everyone helped me last time." ARIZONA@WORK was there for Daniel again: the Career Center helped Daniel find a re-stocking job at a local home improvement store and matched him with other local resources to regain his independence.

Daniel is grateful to many people along his journey and is quick to name names. With a huge smile, Daniel explained, "I do the best I can. ARIZONA@WORK helps people. They helped me be me."

ADAPT & OVERCOME

It seems that nearly everyday, ARIZONA@WORK employees are connecting via on-line meetings and through technology that allows us to maintain social distancing. While we look forward to the day that we can meet face-to-face again, the proverbial show must go on. Our community continues to need our services, whether they be career opportunities, veterans services, vocational rehabilitation, disability access, GED or youth programs, we want to say a big THANK YOU to all who continue to work hard for Yuma County.
